

I oppose any rulesmaking that would prevent me from purchasing a computer where I could not use the computer to it's full potential.
If the recording industry is worried about duplication of music digitally, then they need to develop ways of making their music uncopyable.